GlobalSource Security Services

The right resources for the right operation

A Global Perspective on Security

A global economy demands a global perspective on the security of personnel and assets. Today's security planning and operations are inseparable from international trends, complex cultural considerations, and unfolding political events. Only a company with true international reach and on-the-ground experience can provide an effective response to the full scope of threats facing multinationals on land and at sea.

With unrivalled international resources, a proven track record on five continents, unparalleled in-house expertise, far-reaching access across borders and industries, GlobalSource is well-positioned to deliver a rich package of security services to our multinational clients, including:

➤ Executive Protection

Today's multinationals know no borders in their efforts to grow business. Executives know that sometimes, a face-to-face meeting or personal oversight of key business moves can make the difference between profit and loss. When travel to unstable or unfamiliar regions becomes necessary, more and more executives turn to GlobalSource to ensure a secure, expedient, and productive trip - and a safe return home.

GlobalSource provides comprehensive security solutions for business and individuals traveling to hostile environments including:

- Armed/unarmed escorts
